(Special to The Herald.)

Berlin, via wireless to Sayville wireless station, N. Y., Oct. 14.—One million, eight hundred thousand Allied troops, ninety divisions, engaged in the third and final months of fighting in the battle of the Somme, had to be definitely withdrawn from the fighting to prevent complete annihilation, according to the military critics, as announced by the semi-official Over Sea News Agency, in service with the Allied drive on the Somme. The reports are taken to show the terrific sacrifices of life, which the French and British have been forced to make for every square foot of ground gained during the battle which has lasted nearly a third of a year.

SAILOR GOES ON RAMPAGE

Breaks Windows and Furniture, Then Turns Horses Loose in a Stable.

About 11:30 on Friday night the police headquarters received a call by telephone from the West End that a burglar was in the neighborhood, and the patrol wagon with two or three officers was sent up Miller avenue, where the officers found two men holding a sailor whom they had captured who had been on a rampage in that section.

He began action by ringing doorbells on Richards avenue and clearing the furniture and other piazza equipment from the front of a residence, which he tossed into the street. He then moved to the residence of Mary Goss where he picked up a large potted plant and shot it through the parlor window. After paying his midnight respects to the inhabitants of Miller avenue he drifted over on Richards avenue and into the stable of Michael J. Griffin. Here he amused himself by turning loose the horses and other animals found walking around the stable when the owner arrived on the scene.

When placed under arrest he said he was looking for his girl who had given him the shake. He was mad about the disappearance of his lady love and in his hunt became very destructive. He gave his name as Norman Waldand and when he appeared in court today he denied that he did any bombardment or entered the stable. He claimed he went home with a girl and somebody else must have caused all the fright and trouble in the West End neighborhood. The court called for a settlement of $16.90 and all damages resulting from the misplaced furniture and broken windows.

(Special to The Herald.)

New York, Oct. 14.—The steamer Bovic, which yesterday reported by wireless the presence of a German submarine 200 miles east of here, arrived here this morning. There were conflicting stories on the submarine story. Following the arrival of the steamer the captain denied to a reporter that he had seen any submarine. The pilot who brought the ship in, however, stated that the captain not only told him he had seen a German submarine, but it had given chase. The presence of a gun mounted on her stern however, had a wholesome effect on the undersea craft. The last seen of the German submarine, she was chasing the Danish steamer Helligolv, which sailed from this port early in the week. The Bovic is a British freighter which sailed from Manchester, England.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW HOTEL

Marshall House at York Harbor Will Accommodate 150 Guests.

Ground has been broken for the new Marshall house at York Harbor and work has been begun with a rush on the hotel that will replace the old house burned to the ground on the night of Jan. 26. During the summer season in the new hotel has been selling and the property will be practically owned by York people and summer residents of the town. Frank W. Marshall is president and Joseph W. Simpson treasurer of the corporation. The house will be opened for business in June, 1917. The new Marshall house will be located on very nearly the same site as the former one, with one 200 foot wing on the river bank near the high bank.

It will be of brick construction, nearly fireproof, and will be colonial in design, making it one of the handsomest hotels on the coast.

There will be 150 guest chambers and about 50 bath rooms. The house will be equipped with steam heat, and all other modern appliances for the safety and comfort of the guests. One of the features will be the detached brick fire kitchen, which will remove all fire hazards in this direction. The architects are John Calvin and John Howard Stevens of Portland, and the builders are McDonald and Joslin of Boston.

The former Marshall house was one of the two oldest summer hotels in York. It was built in the winter of 1870-71, by the late Nathaniel G. Marshall. The site of the house was the best in York, the building being constructed on an elevation which overlooks the land and sea, and gives a magnificent view in all directions. Mr. Marshall soon turned the property over to his son, the late Edward S. Marshall, and during his life many improvements were made and additions put on until the house became the largest in York. On Jan. 19, 1913, its proprietor, Edward S. Marshall, died, and the hotel again changed hands, but still remained in the family. Frank D. Marshall, the son, coming into possession. He at once commenced to make extensive improvements, which cost about $10,000. This was previous to the winter in which the house burned down, and more improvements were under way when the house was destroyed.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods with out fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

SMALL LOSS IF THE WHOLE STATION HAD GONE

Upon reading that not all actually lifted that roof in New Hampshire, one would conclude that the political campaign in this state was of torrid intensity, but the fact of the matter is that it was exhaust steam from a locomotive which blew out a section of the historic structure known as the Portsmouth railroad station.—The Concord Mirror.

GERMANS WITHDRAW BIG GUNS ON SOMME

Take Back Artillery for One and a Half to Five Miles Fearing Their Capture—500 Pieces Taken in Allied Drive

With the French armies on the Somme front, Oct. 13.—The Germans have withdrawn their heavy guns from 1-2 to 5 miles behind their Somme front. Anglo-French aviators have discovered on recent flights.

The withdrawal was ordered to save the pieces from capture. In the recent dashes of allied infantry into the German lines many heavy guns have been taken before the Germans had an opportunity to withdraw them.

The Germans now have 2100 guns opposing the French and British on the 30-mile Somme front, compared with the 2500 guns they used in the attack on Verdun. Of this number 600 are south of the Somme, facing the French and 650 oppose the French advance north of the Somme. The British are opposed by 850 German pieces.

Since the allied offense began more than 500 German guns have been captured.

Says New Italian Drive Failed to Help Rumania.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The new Italian drive on the Isonzo, launched for the purpose of relieving Austrian pressure on Rumania, has utterly failed in its purpose, said Vienna dispatches today.

The Austrians have blocked repeated Italian assaults without summoning a single regiment from any other front. It was stated, Gen. Cadorna has failed to make any important gains though he wasted ammunition lavishly in eight days of bombardment that preceded the assault.

British and Serbian attacks in Macedonia, probably for the purpose of drawing off Bulgarian troops from the Rumanian front, have met with a similar fate. The Bulgarians withdrew at a few places, but everywhere maintained their fortified lines.

The Teutonic sweep through Transylvania and the possibilities of a great invasion of Rumania are interesting, the Berlin public to the exclusion of other military movements. While the allies are gaining small local successes on the Somme front, Falkenhayn's armies are expected to deal a crushing blow to Rumania.

Rumanians Fail to Stay Teuton Advance.

Vienna, via London, Oct. 13.—Efforts by the Rumanians to stay the Austro-German advance in Transylvania have failed, the war office announced in the following statement:

"Rumanian attacks near Vulcan pass failed. In the region of Kronstadt the enemy was compelled to retire in the direction of the frontier passes. In the last two days 18 officers, 430 men, one heavy gun, five machine guns, and much war material have been brought in.

In the Georgeny mountains and on both sides of the upper Maros Roumanian resistance has been broken. Our troops are pursuing the enemy."

No important changes on the Russian front are reported. North of Solovka, in eastern Galicia, a Russian attack was repulsed.

Drop 4 Tons of Explosives on Obendorf.

Paris, Oct. 13.—Forty French and British aeroplanes dropped four tons of explosives last night on the Mauser works at Obendorf, in Germany, on the Neckar river, the war office announced today. Six German machines defending the works were shot down.

British Gain More Ground North of Somme.

London, Oct. 13.—British troops advanced on the front extending from Guedecourt to Les Boues (about 1-2 miles) in severe fighting north of the Somme last night, Gen. Haig reported this afternoon. Gains were also made northwest of Guedecourt and 150 prisoners were taken.

A German attack north of Stuff redoubt was driven off.

Fourteen British raiding parties entered enemy trenches in the regions of Ypres and Armentieres during the night, returning with prisoners and including casualties.

Austrians Admit Gains by Italians.

Vienna, Oct. 13.—Italian troops have gained some ground 6-12 miles south of Gorizia in their violent offensive on the Carso. It was officially announced today, but have left 2700 prisoners in Austrian hands. In the Pustia region the Austrians have withdrawn somewhat.

British Armored Cars Reconnoiter Against Bulgars.

London, Oct. 13.—Pushing their patrols eastward from the towns of Prosenk and Topolova, captured from the Bulgars a few days ago, the British reconnoitered with armored cars along the railway to the Sere-Salomon road. It was officially announced today. The Bulgars are holding the railway in considerable force.

On the Lake Doiran front, enemy trenches north of Dolzid were raided by the British, despite strong resistance. Bulgarian troops fled after their resistance was broken down.

PRICE OF BREAD UP THROUGHOUT NATION

Washington, Oct. 13.—The extent of increase in the price of bread, or decrease in the weight of loaves, during the four months from May 15 to Sept. 15, is detailed in figures from 45 of the country's principal industrial centers made public today by the bureau of labor statistics. Bakers in reports to the bureau, gave as reasons: the increased cost of materials and ingredients, especially flour. Changes in prices and weights have been most numerous during the last two months which the figures cover.

Of 210 brands of bread that retailed for 5 cents and weighed 16 ounces or more, May 15, only 14 remained at the same price and weight Sept. 15. Some bakers are reported to have met cost advances by discontinuing wholesale business, substitution of brands, presumably cheaper, and elimination of the return of stale bread.

Comparative figures regarding wheat and flour prices and the average retail price of bread show that the whole sale price of wheat was 34 per cent greater Sept. 15 than May 15, the wholesale price of flour 37 per cent higher, the retail price 23 per cent higher for the same period, and the average retail price of bread 11 per cent higher.

Another table shows the retail margin of prices for flour and bread. In May flour was $5.48 a barrel wholesale and $7.62 retail, leaving a margin of $2.14 to cover transportation, retailers' expenses and profits, and usually jobbers' expenses and profits between the mill and the retailer. In September the margin was $1.90 a barrel. It is made clear that the figures are market margins rather than the profits, as retail prices do not always follow wholesale prices promptly. The retail prices of bread per pound before baking, in May, was $.056; in September it was $.062. The wholesale price of 10.15 ounces of flour in one pound of bread before baking, assuming 300 loaves to the barrel, in May was $.018. In September it was $.025.

In May, the wholesale value of 10.45 ounces of flour was 1.8 cents; the average retail price for 16 ounces of bread before baking being 5.5 cents, making a margin of 3.8 cents between the wholesale price of flour in a 16-ounce loaf of dough and the retail price of the sale loaf baked. The margin figures do not include the cost of retailing and the retailers' profits.

Brands of bread on Sept. 15 were being sold at 12-12 1/2 ounces for 5 cents in one city. In another the price was increased and the weight was decreased at the same time. Frequently, however, increase in price has been accompanied by increase in weight. In some cities the price was increased, the weight remaining the same.

Filene's
BOSTON

A little chat about fall fashions as seen by Filene experts

HATS The main thing to keep in mind is that hats are simple—so simple they take an artist to make. Velvet is the one most wanted material, and already it is scarce in the wanted grades and colors. What a good opportunity to say we have plenty! Many colors—Here is a list according to their importance: purple, taupe, gold, silver, Burgundy, Hessian blue, flag blue, midnight blue, rose des alpes, cherry red, brown, black—all sizes.

SUITS Soft wool velours and broadcloth are the most wanted materials—whether one pays $25 or $225. The fur-trimmed suit is the favorite—the favorite furs are the short-haired kinds, especially moleskin and Hudson seal.

Many suit-coats are longer, to be sure—so much longer that some can be worn as separate coats. But short coats are good also; that is to say, coats that come to the finger tips or within an inch or two. Suit collars are generally of the big, convertible sailor type. Women want colored suits—Burgundy, purple, brown, taupe, green, as well as blue and black.

BLOUSES First comes Georgette crepe in the new suit colors or in white and pink; then crepe de chine, plaids and stripes, and laces.

The coat waist with a peplum that is worn outside the skirt keeps coming over from Paris in new versions. It is one of the best of the new ideas.

COATS Bolivia cloth is supreme as far as coats are concerned. Silk plushes are coming, velours are very, very good and, we may add, exceedingly practical. Mixtures and broadcloth hold their own.

Colored coats are the rule—Burgundy, taupe, brown, green, purple, with blue and black as after thoughts.

Coats are mostly of the motor-coat type—long, loose, full—Coats are beautiful this season.

DRESSES Serge dresses dominate—in fact, most of the designing genius has been expended on serge dresses. The smartest styles, the leading styles, the most elaborate styles are practically all in serge.

For other materials, there is wool jersey for the street, satin and charmeuse for afternoon and taffeta for evening parties.

The dress silhouette is distinctive—the waistline is not of any account, it may be high, low, natural, or there may be none at all. The weight hangs from the shoulders, and the line from shoulder to hem is approximately straight.

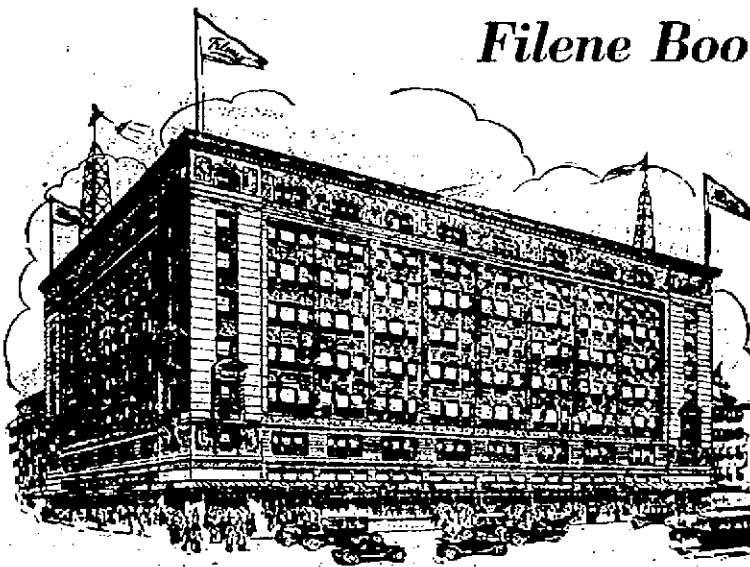

SKIRTS Skirts are still short—not horribly short, you know, but short. Nevertheless there is a conspiracy afoot to lengthen them. We hope women will continue to hold out against the long skirt, because the short one is so becoming and sensible.

CORSETS The Fall corsets are built to make women look normal. There is no exaggeration in any direction—the back is straight, the front is straight, the bust is normal, the waist keeps its natural slight curve.

COLOR A woman can buy everything in the prominent new colors, —Burgundy, taupe and purple—her hats, petticoats, suits, coats and blouses and what not.

SWEATERS For Fall sweater fashions—plaid sweaters, middie sweaters that go over the head, fur-trimmed silk sweaters and Shetland sweaters, with Angora collars and cuffs.

POLICE NEWS.

At the home of Sergeant Pope, U. S. M. C., retired, on Richards avenue last evening, a freaky "Prilly the thirteenth" drunk caused the occupants of the house considerable fright early this morning by his actions about the house. The police were called and informed that someone was attempting to enter the house. The officers in the police patrol responded to the call and succeeded in rounding up the burglar within a few feet of the house. There seemed little doubt that the man was attempting to enter the house but it was obvious that his object was to get shelter from the rain. He was booked as a drunk at the station.

It was a freaky night all the way through and the officers were busy all evening chasing freaks off corners where they continually gathered, engaged in discussions of the war, religion, politics, and a variety of other subjects. In one of the lunch carts on Market Square some of the colored windows attracted attention of the police and suffered several panes of glass having been broken about all the excitement was over by 3:00 o'clock, but it was late enough for the officers on duty. One arrest was made on a man for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Want Ads bring results. Try one and be convinced.

A Paternalistic Experiment.

Massachusetts is about to try an experiment in paternalism such, so far as we are aware, has not been tried by any other state, and which will strike many as being of an impracticable character. The experiment is undertaken with a view to relieving the congestion of the large cities by establishing poor families in suburban homes with a little land on which it is expected they will be able to make a considerable part of their living. The plan has been under consideration for some time, the legislature has given authority to proceed and a commission has been appointed to carry out the work. It is hoped that in time many of the families placed in these homes by the state will acquire ownership of them.

The hopes of the projectors run high, as is apt to be the case in new and novel undertakings backed by the public treasury. In an address on the subject a few days ago a man interested in this project declared that, to a considerable extent, the crowding of the cities is responsible for the decline in food production and the rise in prices. He then went on to tell what has been figured out by agricultural experts, who claim that on one acre of land "a man can keep 200 head of poultry, a cow, a pig, and raise a goodly supply of vegetables. The sale of vegetables and farm products from this acre will net him about $500 a year."

People having any practical knowledge of the cultivation of land know that anything of this sort is a dream. Much can be accomplished on a small piece of land by expert handling, but the idea that people can be gathered from the slums of cities and converted into successful intensive farmers in a jiffy is erroneous.

A man to till land successfully must do so from choice. He must have practical experience, which it takes time to acquire, and he must have a love for his calling. It is therefore to be doubted that any experiment like that to be tried by Massachusetts will prove a financial success. The state can build houses and place families in them, if it can find any who do not prefer the slums to country life under any circumstances, but if it dreams that it will be able to make these families self-supporting there is an awakening ahead. On the whole, the scheme is paternalism in its baldest form, and there are those who are beginning to fear that in this country paternalism is becoming even a greater danger than the slums.

John Reid, who introduced the game of golf in this country, is dead at the age of 76 years. He was a Scotchman and a close friend of Andrew Carnegie. The game has grown mightily in popularity since Mr. Reid made its possibilities known in the United States, and is now a leader in a country that probably devotes more time to sports than any other in the world.

At least one western state has forbidden the importation of all Christmas greenery from New England. It is not willing to take the chance of introducing the gypsy moth, which has wrought great destruction in some parts of the East for many years, and, under all the circumstances, the action taken is warranted. It is better to be safe than to be sorry.

Let every day be fire prevention day, says a headline, and this is sound advice. It is all well enough to have a general awakening on the subject once a year, but if fire prevention is to be what it should be it must be practiced every day in the year. Guarding against the start and spread of fires is something that cannot be overdone.

A Washington correspondent reports that some of the politicians are already looking beyond the present campaign and laying their wires for 1920. As we have before remarked, this is a rapid age, and the United States is by no means a slow-going country.

Berlin denies that Germany is seeking peace, and there is reason to believe that this message from the realm of the kaiser is worthy of credence, notwithstanding the fact that the American people have learned to make liberal allowance for reports from the seat of war.

Woman's suffrage and prohibition call for shrewd engineering in some of the political conventions, but in most cases those who steer the ships manage to dodge the rocks and go by.

The libel suits growing out of the campaign will hardly be disposed of until after election. And after the voting is done there will be little interest in them.

The boys and girls are not disturbed by the political situation. The apples and chestnuts are just as tempting as ever.

It has been a hard season along the Atlantic coast. The sharks were bad enough, but U-boats are worse.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Stirring Up Wrath
(From the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin)
If Germany wants to incur the wrath of the people of the United States and induce them to do all they can to help its enemies, until its power for mischief is destroyed, it could take no more effective means than to pursue this kind of naval warfare along our own coast.

Doctors and Other Advisers
(From "Glimpses of the Town" in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.)
The doctor is the only man I know who is forever trying to do things which will reduce his own income. You never find a lawyer who gives his life to lessening the number of law suits.

Where is the storekeeper who advertises against the habit and pastime of shopping?

Do you read anywhere about publishers urging people to read less?

Do railroads tell us to send our freight by canal and travel ourselves on foot or by automobile?

How many bankers do you know who recommend an old coffee pot as a safe deposit box?

A prize awaits any one who shall discover a broker who seriously deprecates the gentle avocation of stock speculation.

Does your coal dealer plead with you to burn gas or your gas man to use electricity?

What baker has ever told you that home-made bread is preferable?

Rheumatisms never endorse the habit of going barefoot.

But the doctor or chemist is forever and always figuring out how to trap this germ, or annihilate that bacillus, or banish another malady, all of which tends to reduce the amount of sickness and lessen his own earning capacity.

Estimate, if you can, how many million doctor fees were saved when Edward Jenner, an Englishman, about the time of the American Revolution, discovered the secret of vaccination to prevent smallpox.

What a heavy subtraction from human misery and doctor's purses was effected by Louis Pasteur, the Frenchman, who told the world how to combat hydrophobia!

Major Reid, our immortal American doctor man, knocked out the deadliest disease which Cuban physicians enjoyed when he proved by heroic experiments that the mosquito carries yellow fever.

Not only did General Gorgas enable General Goethals to build the Panama Canal by removing disease, but he paralyzed the doctoring business in the whole Panama Canal zone.

The great Koch sat up nights trying to fathom the dark secret of diphtheria and zep! When he found his antidote he robs tens of thousands of doctors all over the world of their fees for treating sick children.

Only two days ago we read how a Scotch surgeon in France had perfected a new process of photographing the interior of man. You cannot tell how many surgical operations that may prevent in future and how many surgeons fees it will wipe out.

Hundreds of scientists have been killing for months to drive the infantile paralysis "bug" into a corner and kill it. Less work for doctors when that pest is caught!

So it goes and has been going for generations—medical science burning the midnight oil inventing ways to prevent disease and reduce medical earnings.

To be sure, everybody falls ill some time and needs a doctor, but the doctors say that people on the average are sick fewer days in every year than they once were—direct results of the battle of medicine against its own pocketbook.

Necessity Inspires Invention
(From the Detroit Free Press)
An Englishman has invented a non-splittable egg-cup for use of one-eyed people. War never created a necessity that science didn't meet.

TROUBLE IS FEARED AT BAYONNE

Police Take Extra Precautions to Prevent Outbreak at Funeral of Strike Victim.

(Special to The Herald)
Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 14.—Civil warfare again flared up today in full blast, after 12 hours of calm. At three separate places battles were fought between the police and strikers. The crack of rifle shots is again predominant in this strike stricken town. Mrs. Stephen Pepp, aged 59, died of fright when the police entered her home in search of arms. She is the second woman to fall a victim since the strike commenced. Great fears are felt by the police as to the outcome of today. The funeral of Sophie Torneck, a spectator, who was shot Wednesday night while watching the strikers will be held this afternoon. The strikers charge that the fatal shot was fired by a policeman.

A force of 150 policemen has formed a ring about the house where the funeral will take place and a dead line which includes the two houses on each side established. All of the lodgers have been warned to leave the house.

FIFTY MACHINISTS AND MANY BOAT BUILDERS WANTED

The Industrial Department at the navy yard still needs mechanics and men of this trade can secure immediate employment. Many boat builders are also wanted. General Manager Adams said today that the department would hire at least fifty machinists and that they would be given permanent work. In many instances men will not seek government work owing to the fact that there is no guarantee as to the length of the employment. With the recent increase in wages for the machinists and boat-builders, steady work and thirty days' vacation, it is now an object for men to get on Uncle Sam's payroll.

CHARLES E. HUGHES NOW IN NEBRASKA

City Falls, Neb., Oct. 11.—Charles Evans Hughes began a three days' tour here today, intending to speak in many of the towns and cities in the state, the home state of William Jennings Bryan. Governor Hughes will make five campaign speeches today, closing at Lincoln tonight, where he will remain over Sunday. The Admission eight-hour law and "false prosperity" will be the theme of his speeches during the Nebraska campaign.

WILSON EXPECTED TO REPLY TO HUGHES' CRITICISM

Shadow Lawn, Oct. 11.—One of the features of President Wilson's address to the Pennsylvania Democrats here late this afternoon was expected to be about a reply to Charles Evans Hughes' declaration as to what he would have done in the Louisiana matter. It has been the President's policy not to refer to any of his speeches to his diplomatic course. The President's advisors, however, felt that Mr. Hughes' allusion was of such a character that a reference should be made to it.

Eight special trains rolled in here bringing eight thousand Pennsylvania Democrats.

OUR PROSPERITY BUILT ON SAND

No Thoughtful American Views Conditions Without Fear, Says Hughes.

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 11.—Charles E. Hughes yesterday took his campaign to Missouri, the fourth of the states that skirt the so-called "solid south" to be visited on his present trip. Save for one stop at Springfield, Mo., the entire Jay was spent traveling. The nominee reached Joplin last night nearly three hours behind schedule time, and addressed an audience in a big tent making his chief theme the protective tariff.

Mr. Hughes told the crowds that the present prosperity of the country was built on sand, that "the intoxicated fancy may indulge in happy dreams, but the sober thought of the country is directed to the day when this stimulant—the European war—will be no longer available."

He referred to "those who are seeking to make political capital out of our present prosperity," portrayed in detail conditions as he viewed them in the U. S. when the war shall end, and assailed the Democratic tariff policy as a policy "which means idle plants and impoverished workmen."

Mr. Hughes' train was about three hours late in reaching Springfield. The audience which he addressed in Convention hall had been waiting two hours and a half, and hundreds unable to find standing room were turned away.

"No thoughtful American can view our present economic condition without serious apprehension," Mr. Hughes told his audience here.

"We are under the unhealthy stimulus of European war. Hopes are raised which cannot be fulfilled. Our present prosperity is built on sand. Our exports have jumped in fabulous figures because of the withdrawal from production of the millions of men abroad who are engaged in the fighting. Our trade is not determined by conditions of normal competition, but of an abnormal European want."

FREIGHT BLOCKS TRAFFIC AT EPPING

Three cars of a way freight from Manchester to Portsmouth over the Southern division of the Boston and Maine went on the ground while being switched at Epping on Friday, and held up traffic on the Portsmouth branch. A special train had to be made up here and run to Epping to get the passengers of the train due here at 2:25, which did not arrive until after four o'clock. A wrecking crew of the W. N. & P. division was sent from Nashua to clear the line.

SHRINERS WILL ASSEMBLE AT MANCHESTER

Ceremonial of Bektash Temple Expected to Draw Hundreds to Queen City.

Shriners from all over the state will gather in Manchester next Tuesday when Bektash temple observes "Manchester day," an event that will be marked on every Shriners calendar. Never before has Manchester had the unique experience of witnessing a Shriners' ceremonial and the local members are especially delighted, according to Potentate Chaney Adams of Concord and Recorder Harry M. Cheney, to have an opportunity of giving the members of the state temple a good time.

It is a foregone conclusion that things will be tipped topsy turvy in Manchester when the Shriners start to pen things up. There is nothing too good for them when they start out for a good time and their only aim apparently, is to get half an hour's fun out of every fifteen minutes. Nashua members will meet at Masonic hall in that city tonight to make final preparations for their trip to Manchester on the eventful day. Several hundred men are expected to come in automobiles and they plan to bring a band with them. Similar reports are being received from every part of the state.

A parade with six or eight hundred men in line, all wearing the familiar red fez of the order, will be one of the features of the day. Headquarters will be established at the Academy on Lowell street and lunch will be served at the Joliet club in the evening.

BELONGED TO A LYNN MAN

Stolen Automobile Found at Gravel Hill, Newbury, the Property of J. P. Hines.

Newburyport, Mass., Oct. 14.—The Ford touring car abandoned by thieves sometime early Wednesday morning, at the foot of Gravel Hill, Newbury, was identified this morning as the property of James P. Hines of Lynn, mainly through the efforts of Patrolman Dale of Newbury. One tire had been removed. The registered state automobile number had been removed, and hidden under the driver's seat, while the numbers belonging to Helen Selpah of Lynn had been substituted. It is believed that the thieves were forced to forsake the car when the tire gave out. The Lynn authorities have been notified and will remove the car to that city today.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Today is the last opportunity that Portsmouth will have to see that wonderful picture at the Colonial, "Hypocrites."

Those who have seen it express themselves as satisfied that it is one of the greatest picture sermons ever put before the public. To say that it puts over the lesson intended to be taught by the writer, Louis Weber, is not half strong enough. It has a powerful "punch." It makes an impression that lasts.

The greatest care and pains were taken not only in the selection of a cast but in the settings and photography, all combining to make this picture artistically perfect.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Vagabond" has sent the big audiences at the Colonial into spasms of laughter. Curiously enough for a Chaplin picture, there was more than one throat with a lump in it, as the patrons watched the departure of Charlie's little friend with her wealthy relatives.

There is real art in the deflected droop of the little chap's shoulders and the sad and disconsolate expression as he is left sitting alone on the steps of the gypsy van. Chaplin can be serious if he wants to.

Next Monday will see the Homan's Musical Revue installed at the Colonial with brisk, funny Tommy Levine as the principal laugh maker. Homan's Revue is one of the standard attractions of the musical comedy world, with the best of fun, music and dresy girls.

There is no excuse for harboring a grudge when this clever company is in town. A visit will make you cheerful for weeks.

All new music, plays, costumes, etc. A bargain in comedy.

STAGE SET FOR DARTMOUTH—GEORGETOWN GAME.

Portsmouth people can now purchase good seats for the big Dartmouth-Georgetown football game at Bass' Drug Store and Hodgdon's Cafe. This great college contest takes place in the new Stadium at Haverhill next Saturday and as it is a meeting between two giants of the gridiron, many in this vicinity are planning to attend.

In Haverhill and at the colleges everything is preparation for this battle. It will be the only game that Dartmouth plays near Boston and a thousand of the students are coming down to form the cheering section and eat loose. Georgetown makes this her only game north of New York. Both schools are evenly matched and the game will be fought out to the extreme end. On paper, they look about an even proposition and have fared about equally well with the other teams they have met.

A splendid stadium, accommodating 15,000 people has been made ready for this occasion and tickets are naturally going fast, owing to the popularity of the contest. For this reason, the ticket committee has arranged to handle some seats locally and for a few days next week they may be secured at the place above named. The game will be a real college encounter in every sense of the word. Officials competent to handle a Harvard-Yale contest have been assigned, the two schools are among the largest in the country, their teams are strong and evenly balanced, the cheering sections will be ablaze with color and noise and the game will be well worth seeing.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To my friends and acquaintances in Portsmouth and vicinity, I wish to announce that I have recently become connected as representative of the Glencoe Woollen Company with offices at 23 Pleasant street, opposite the postoffice.

The company's mills are located at Sangerville, Maine. I have personally inspected the company's property, and saw the mills in full operation, running day and night, met the officers in Sangerville, acquainted myself with their policies and methods, and have also visited the Mystic Manufacturing Company's mills at Mystic, Connecticut, and there met Mr. Eli Gledhill, who controls the Mystic Manufacturing Company, and who is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Glencoe Woollen Company, and one of its heaviest stockholders.

I did not decide to make this important change until I had satisfied myself beyond any doubt of the stability of the Glencoe Woollen Company and its officers.

I find after thorough investigation, that Mr. Gledhill is one of the most successful and best known worsted and woollen manufacturers in this country. Mr. Gledhill will dictate the policies of the manufacturing and selling end of the Glencoe Woollen Company's business. Therefore, I have no hesitancy in recommending the Glencoe securities which I shall help the treasurer, Mr. L. J. Coburn, sell. I have learned that the company has departed from the old method in placing their securities. In giving a large proportion to brokers and bankers, but instead the company is giving this direct to their bond purchasers. Consequently these bonds are sold direct from the Glencoe Woollen Company to the investors, they getting what often goes to brokers.

In conclusion, I wish to say that it will be my pleasure to explain in detail the further merits of the Glencoe Woollen Company.

CAPTAIN'S WIFE WON'T QUIT SHIP AND IS DROWNED

AFRAID TO TRUST TO BOATS, STAYS ABOARD DESPITE HUS-BAND'S PLEAS.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Oct. 13.—
The wife of the captain of the barge
Corra refused to leave the craft when it was sinking today, and was drowned
when the barge went down. The captain had endeavored to have her join him in a dory in which he rowed to the Elmer Keeler, which had the barge in tow. She was afraid to get into the small boat, according to the coast guards who later went out to the barge and tug. They did not obtain the woman's name.

The tug, bound from New York for Providence with the Corra, put in here today in a southerly storm. The barge was leading, and when the storm became severe she began to founder and distress signals were hoisted. The coast guards received the signals too late to be of assistance.

NEW YORK LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

DEMOCRATIC SANDBAGGING:
The exposure of the Democratic National Committee's scheme to sand-bag the 55,000 postmasters of the country into "contributing" 10 per cent of their annual salaries to the Wilson campaign fund has proved the sensation of the campaign. This attempt was made by means of a circular addressed to county chairmen by R.
J. H. Ridgeway, member of the Financial Committee of the Democratic National Committee, from Postmaster General Burleson's state—Texas. To give further "punch" to his demand,
Mr. Ridgeway stated in his circular that he wrote "at the instance" of National Committeeman Polk, who had just conferred with the National Committee in New York, meaning
Chairman McCormick, with whom Mr.
Polk had just been in conference.
The county chairmen were warned that it was against the law to write to postmasters or to demand such a contribution in the postoffice, but were instructed to waylay them elsewhere, to demand the 10-per cent assessment and to tell them that "if President Wilson is re-elected there will be a permanent organization of our force throughout the country and a note will be made of the loyalty of those appointees who contributed, as well as the disloyalty of those who refused to contribute." It is not without significance that the Postoffice Appropriation bill just passed carries an appropriation of $31,000,000, "for compensation of postmasters." When the Republicans first prepared and made public a copy of the circular, in which local chairmen are instructed to "act intelligently" so as to avoid running afoul of the law, Chairman McCormick gave out a statement saying: "These charges are the most arrant nonsense and are absolutely untrue. They are in line with the campaign of misrepresentation that the Republicans have been making from the start." Mr. McCormick then learned that the Republican National Committee was furnishing facsimiles of Ridgeway's circular to the daily press. He immediately abandoned his denial, admitted that the circular had been issued, but contended that its distribution had been stopped. From numerous points, however, including the State of Washington, comes word from postmasters that the assessments are being made.
Postmaster Childs of Spokane, among others, admits that he has paid 5 per cent of his salary into Mr. Wilson's campaign fund.

HUGHES ON ADAMSON BILL:
Gov. Hughes continues to pour hot shot into the administration because of the Adamson bill. Asserting at Newark, that it was nothing less than deception to call it an "eight-hour bill,"
Mr. Hughes quoted the statement of Senator Underwood of Alabama in the Senate debate. Replying to another Senator, Mr. Underwood said:
"If the Senator would go and consult with any of the gentlemen who represent the employees and who have been contending here in this matter, they would tell him candidly, as they told me, that the question is a question of wages; that they are not contending for an eight-hour day, that a man shall work only eight hours; they do not want that."

Mr. Hughes is showing up in conclusive manner the absolute hypocrisy of President Wilson's persistent misrepresentation of the Adamson bill as an "eight-hour" bill. "What is the purpose of this attempt to make the public believe that this bill fixes an eight-hour workday?" inquired Mr.
Hughes, answering his own question
thus, "Manifestly, in order to endeavor to justify this extraordinary action of the administration. In its object and humiliating surrender of principle in demitting and securing this legislation without any proper inquiry, as the price of peace. Evidently, it is felt that a wage increase could not be justified in this manner. What is fair and right can afford to be described correctly and can stand on its merits." Referring to President Wilson's assertion that "the eight-hour day has the sanction of the judgment of society" Mr.
Hughes demanded to know, if that were true and the bill had been an eight-hour bill, how President Wilson dared to limit the eight-hour benefit to 20 per cent of the most highly paid railway employees and leave all the others to work far longer hours. He also warned the labor men that the Adamson bill was very likely to prove a boomerang to labor, because with eight hours made the basis of a day's work, those men who completed their runs in less than eight hours were in grave danger of being compelled to turn to other work and put in the full eight hours.

GEORGE ADE'S POSITION:
George Ade, former active Indiana Progressive, but best known as the author of "Fables in Slings," has announced his determination to support Mr. Hughes. In his explanation of his course he says: "When I recall what has happened to this country during the past three years I pity all the good men who are sitting around benumbed by repeated bullies and bewildered to learn that their native land is regarded by the rest of the world as a joke,
but the large share of my pity is reserved for the poor historian of fifty years from now who will have to explain away our shame so that school children will believe it. Of late Mr.
Wilson has been talking preparedness,
but his voice doesn't sound natural.
Why did he have to wait eighteen months after the European war broke out to discover that we needed a regular army and navy? He did not speak out on the preparedness issue until Democratic politicians had worn a path to the White House telling him
what he had better say if he wanted to be reelected. The Democrats said in 1912 that they would reduce the cost of living. All necessities and staples are now higher than ever before.
We do not blame the Democrats for high prices. We do blame them for continually making idle promises. For instance, how about their definite promise to enforce economy and bring down appropriations? They have been in the pork-barrel up to their elbows."

AMUSEMENTS

"KATINKA" SCORED HIGH LAST
EVENING AT THE PORTS-MOUTH THEATRE.

At the Portsmouth Theatre last evening Arthur Hammerstein presented to a large and appreciative audience the musical comedy success "Katinka," from the pens of Otto Hauerbach and Rudolph Friml, the author and composer of "High Jinks" and "The Firefly." The company was one of the best balanced playing Portsmouth for several seasons, was finely staged and beautifully costumed. In the leading role Miss Margaret Owen captivated all with her charming personality and pleasing voice and the other principals
the Misses Phelps, Castle, Berger were able supporters to her excellent work.
Phil Ryley, as Thaddeus Hopper, the American tourist who did things, presented a delightful character in a manner which stamped him as a star. John Roberts as Ivan Dimitri and S. Paul Veron as Boris Strogoff, together with Eddie Lambert in the comedy role of Herr Knoph, were also excellent.

The story of Katinka opens in Russia, where the heroine, who gives her name to the piece, is being forced into an unwelcome marriage with the elderly statesman, Boris. At the height of the festivities, Katinka's lover, Ivan, learns that Boris already has one living wife, who is reported to be somewhere in Turkey hiding from her hated husband in a harem. With the aid of an American friend, Hopper, Ivan steals Katinka, and the three set out in search of the first Mrs. Boris. Katinka, passing herself off as Mrs. Hopper, they go to Stamboul, while they are engaged in their search, Mrs. Hopper turns up, throwing confusion into the camp of the amateur detectives. Meanwhile, Mrs. Boris Number One has journeyed on to Vienna, and the searching party, with the indignantly jealous
Mrs. Hopper, follow in Vienna. Mrs.
Boris is found. Boris is unmasked, Ivan and Katinka are free to wed, and
Mr. and Mrs. Hopper are reconciled.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.
When peevish, cross, listless, pale,
doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of his little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative";
they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California

other kind with contempt.

DENIES LEWIS CREDIT CLAIMED FOR PARCEL POST

JONATHAN BOURNE, JR., REPUB-LICAN SENATOR OF OREGON,
THE FATHER OF THE SYSTEM.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 13.—In an interview here this afternoon a prominent member of the Republican Publicity Association took occasion to dispute
the claim of Congressman David J.
Lewis of Maryland of being the father of the Parcel Post. He also stated that the Parcel Post, instead of being a democratic measure, was purely and simply a Republican measure and was placed on the statute books during a republican administration. He said:

"Congressman David J. Lewis, the democratic nominee for the senate in Maryland, is making his campaign largely on the representation that he is the father of the parcel post system
and that the parcel post is a democratic measure. Lewis is all wrong. The parcel post is a republican measure and its father was a republican senator from this state, Oregon."

"The credit-claiming Lewis became a member of the house of representatives March 4, 1911, according to Capitol records, and, in his statement before the Bourne parcel post committee, he said that immediately after his official duties began he endeavored to give this subject the consideration its importance merited."

"Five years prior to that time, in 1906 to be exact, Jonathan Bourne, Jr., was a candidate for the senate from Oregon and he made his campaign partly upon the advocacy of a parcel post with rates varying according to distance—the zone system—which we now have in force."

"Bourne was elected, became chairman of the senate committee on post offices and post roads, was appointed chairman of a sub-committee which conducted the parcel post inquiry, drafted
the measure which was incorporated in the post office appropriation bill in 1912, in opposition to the Lewis scheme for government condemnation and purchase of the express companies, and the Bourne bill, with some minor changes made in the conference at the request of Congressman Moon
of Tennessee, is now on the statute books. The senate at that time was republican, the house was democratic,
and the president was republican."

"This short statement of facts should effectively and forever dispose of the claim that the parcel post was a democratic measure, or that Lewis was its father, or even a distant uncle, for Lewis never favored anything but government purchase of the express companies, which he proposed to transform into a government agency for carrying both express and freight as his official statements will show."

SUBMARINE RAID CALLED RESULT OF WILSON'S POLICY

THEODORE ROOSEVELT SAYS CHAMPIONSHIP OF NEUTRALS WAS NOT SHOWN IN U-BOAT CRISIS.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Although Col. Theodore Roosevelt said he could not give out interviews on such subjects as the submarine situation, but must reserve discussion of them for his public campaign speeches he has consented to be quoted by The Christian Science Monitor to this extent:

"What ought to be brought forcibly and clearly before the newspaper public is that you can no more consider Sunday's submarine attacks as an isolated event than you can consider a single move in a game of chess apart from the whole plan of the game. The present submarine situation is the reflection, the inevitable result, the outgrowth of the Wilson policy, the policy of vacillation; of making his words before his deeds and his deeds before his words; the policy that he has pursued all along, from the invasion of Belgium down to the present moment. It is all the result of the Wilson policy, and nothing but the result of that policy."

He did not say so, but it was plainly evident that the German U-boat operations off the American coast would be made a prominent campaign issue, so far as Colonel Roosevelt was concerned, at least, if not by Charles E. Hughes himself.

Colonel Roosevelt said his attitude was more fully explained in a statement he had already issued, and in which he said that there was no American who did not realize the "awful tragedy of our indifference and inaction" which had now resulted in the carrying of the war "to our very shores." By taking the right step at the right time he believes America's influence and leadership might have been made a stabilizing force.

The phrase, "He kept us out of war," as applied to the President, Colonel Roosevelt calls utterly misleading. The war, which has in reality been creeping nearer and nearer, was now faced, he said, by a nation without policy, plan, purpose or preparation.

"Of the six ships just sunk, two were neutrals," he says. "How has President Wilson's unhesitating championship of their rights shown itself? Moreover, putting their non-combatant passengers and crews in open rowboats in the October seas is no way to guarantee their safety. But the chief point is that the war, and the great military nations have come so close to us that our country is no longer to be excused if it endures Mr. Wilson's futility or inaction."

Colonel Roosevelt says our army on the border could not hold out against an army which any one of the great military powers could put in New York in a fortnight and in San Francisco in a month. He has great praise for the navy's conduct off Nantucket Sunday but believes it unmanly folly to rely wholly on the navy for defense. He appeals anew for universal military training and in conclusion says:

"The time for the ostrich policy, the time for the head in the hole policy, in America is past. America cannot afford to continue to play the part of the ostrich among nations, least of all can she afford to be an eloquent ostrich."

COPLEY THEATRE, BOSTON

Already firmly established in popular favor, the Henry Jewett Players, who are conducting a highly successful permanent repertory season at the Copley Theatre, Boston, will offer as the attraction for the coming week, beginning Monday evening, Oct. 16th, Oscar Wilde's delightful comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

The play deals with the tribulation that comes to those who practice deception. There are two deceivers—John Worthing, the hero, and his friend, Algy Moncrieff, Worthing, who has a pet young ward, wearies of life in the country with her and her prim governess, and he invents a story of an imaginary brother, called Ernest, who is represented as a wild young fellow who needs a restraining hand, and for whose supervision Worthing makes excuses frequently to visit London.

The real attraction in the metropolitan for Worthing is a young woman, Gwendolen Fairfax, whose mother discourages his suit because his parentage is uncertain.

Just as Moncrieff is progressing, Worthing appears upon the scene, ready to confess his deceit. He announces the death of his fictitious brother Ernest just as that worthy is supposed to be wooing his ward. Complications ensue, but in the end both Worthing and Moncrieff win the women of their choice.

NEWBURYPORT FIRM AWARDED CONTRACT IN PORTSMOUTH

CUSHMAN BROTHERS DOING THE NEW WORK FOR THE ROCKINGHAM LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY.

Cushman Brothers Company of Newburyport, Mass., were awarded the contract for the improving of the big power plant of the Rockingham Light and Power Company in this city and have already commenced work on the job. The contractors were pleased at landing the work as it is a long job and will provide employment for their big force practically the entire winter.

The work is part of improvements that are to be made at the great power station of the Rockingham Light and Power Company, from which is sent out the power that operates the cars of the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway Company and other lines of industry.

It will include the building of a new concrete intake from the Piscataqua river, a remodeling of the basement and other changes.

Michael Cushman, one of the firm, intends giving the work his personal attention until it is completed. A foreman from Newburyport has been sent to this city and the laborers will be hired in Portsmouth or from Boston in case not enough can be secured here.

U. S. S. DRAYTON THE "SUBMARINE" SEEN IN HARBOR

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER PUT INTO THE NAVY YARD LATE IN THE AFTERNOON, CAUSING SOME EXCITEMENT

Considerable excitement was occasioned along the waterfront early last evening when reports that a German submarine had put into the harbor and had proceeded to the navy yard. Several actually saw the craft as it made for the naval station. The "submarine" proved to be the U. S. Torpedo boat destroyer Drayton which came up the harbor in the late afternoon and tied up at one of the piers at the yard. The object of the Drayton's visit is not known and it is understood that she will leave sometime this morning.

OBITUARY

Mr. William Smith

The community was saddened Friday morning by the news of the passing on of another comrade, William M. Smith of Williams avenue, Kittery, one of the oldest residents of the town.

He was born in Lynn, Mass., April 23, 1836. He was educated in the schools of Lee, N. H., and New Bedford, Mass. In 1849 he went to California with his parents, making the trip around Cape Horn. He made his home in California for several years, and then returned to Biddeford, Me., where he married Miss Sarah Murphy. He enlisted in the 27th Maine, Company F in 1862 and served 9 months, taking his discharge July 12, 1863. He returned to Biddeford and remained until 1882 when he came to Kittery where he has made his home ever since.

He was engineer on the navy yard ferry for a number of years. He was one of the oldest members of Dunlap Order of Masons of Biddeford, a member of Mayvoshen Lodge K. of P., also of Biddeford. He was also a member of Riverside Lodge of Odd Fellows, and E. G. Parker Post, all of Kittery. At the time of his death he was acting commander of the Post, being elected to fill the position made vacant by the death of Mr. Edwin Duncan.

He leaves besides his wife, Mrs. Mary Smith, two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Williams and Miss Luella Smith, also two brothers and one sister, all of California.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Second Christian church, Kittery, Rev. E. W. Cummings of Kittery Point will officiate. The Riverside Lodge will have their services, also Parker Post. After the service the body will be taken to Hunt's undertaking parlor, Portsmouth and on Monday taken to Biddeford for burial.

Dr. George Treadwell of Moore's Island, Kittery Point, still holds the ribbon on big potatoes, 13-1 lbs. The superintendent of the Northern Pacific railroad has heard of Dr. Treadwell's big potatoes through the Herald and wants his entire crop to use in maintaining the prestige of the "route of the great big baked potato." Moore's Island potatoes have been made as famous as Long Island potatoes.

PINCHINELLO PLEADS GUILTY TO YORK BREAK

Held in $500 by Judge Shaw for the January Term of York County Court.

In the Municipal Court before Judge Justin Henry Shaw, on Friday afternoon, Pinchello pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and larceny of a number of car tickets, the property of the Atlantic Shore Railway, and was held in $500 for the January term of the York Supreme Court. In default of bail he was committed to the county jail at Alfred and he will be removed to the jail this morning in charge of Chief of Police Young of York.

The postoffice is in the store of W. N. Gough at York and after examination the first suspicion that he had been tampering with the mails was found to be an error. The charge was changed to breaking, entering and larceny.

Pinchello has a bad record for a youth and has been at liberty only ten days. He was given a suspended sentence in the present term of the York County court on a similar charge, when he was arrested for breaking and committing larceny in Avery's fish market some months ago.
